APPLICABILITY OF THE SHERMAN ACT TO FOOTBALL

NCAA v. Board of Regents of the University of Oklahoma
Agnew v. National Collegiate Athletic Association
Pugh v. National Collegiate Athletic Association

Milestones for the Sherman Act

NCAA v. Board of Regents 1984.
Proverbial Framework

NCAA is not exempt from scrutiny under the Sherman Antitrust Act

U.S. District Court of NY ruled that NCAA rules and regulations implicate trade or commerce

MIBA v. NCAA 2004

Walk on Football Players Litigation 2005

Award of financial aid to college students to be “trade or commerce” and therefore subject to the Sherman Act.

SHERMAN ACT--DEFINING MARKETS AND ANTI/PRO-COMPETITIVENESS IN AGNEW

- Plaintiff argued that NCAA cap on the number of scholarships given per team had an anticompetitive effect in violation of Sherman Act Section 1 as an unreasonable restraint of trade
- U.S. Court of Appeals Reasoning:
 - NCAA commercial transactions with student -athletes was present, therefore,
 - NCAA can engage in anti or pro -competitive behavior
 - Relevant market must be properly identify to assess if anti behavior had an adverse effect on the market
- Has been negatively cited in O'Bannon v. NCAA
 - Amateurism

SHERMAN ACT--DEFINING ELIGIBILITY RULES IN PUGH

- Pugh accepted D1 grant -in-aid whose award could not exceed 1 yr
- Transferred to a D2 school, but as a result, the NCAA's "year -in-residence requirement" obliged him to sit out of competition for a full season because he must become a "resident" in the newly transferred school
- U.S. District Court of Indiana reasoning:
 - Drew from Agnew and Board of Regents (deductive reasoning)
 - Eligibility rules that foster competition are presumptively pro-competitive
 - Does not pertain to financial aid rules
 - None of this is applicable to baseball
- Not overruled nor have negatively criticized rulings

SHERMAN ACT--WHY BASEBALL SHOULD BE INCLUDED

- Similar set of circumstances?
 - Anti or pro -competitive arguments would not be valid as a restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman Antitrust Act
 - Rationale
 - Congress has not used legislative powers to designate baseball under the purview of Sherman
 - Right Field Rooftops, LLC v. Chicago Baseball Cubs, LLC (2015)
 - Cites Federal Baseball Club of Baltimore v. National League of Professional Baseball Clubs (1922)
 - “Purely state affairs”
 - Anti-competitives which fails to foster competition in amateur intercollegiate sports is illegal...in football
 - In baseball?
 - Question is not touched upon
 - Conclusion
 - All sports must be subject to federal antitrust laws because bylaws that inhibit competition are illegal in nature

SHERMAN ACT--WHY BASEBALL SHOULD BE INCLUDED CONT.

- Similar set of circumstances?
 - Must be applicable to all sports
- It's a question of upholding a rule of law
- Court's options:
 - Exempt all
 - Urge Congress to legislate

Case Rule Fusion

- Agnew; Board of Regents:
Commercial Transactions, Relevant Markets, and Competitiveness
- Board of Regents; Walk on Football Players Litigation
MIBA: Horizontal restraints
- Pugh: Eligibility/Financial Aid rules
- Rooftops; Federal Baseball Club of Baltimore; Flood;
MLBP: baseball exemption

IF a party demonstrates that the NCAA or its rules derive economic gain by engaging in commercial transactions,
AND identifies a relevant commercial market in which anti-competitive effects may be apparent,

OR can demonstrate that the NCAA or its rules devise plans that horizontally restrain the operation of a free market,
AND provides no valid justification for the horizontal restrictions

THEN this constitutes an unreasonable restraint of trade in violation of Sherman Antitrust Act Section 1.

HOWEVER,

IF the NCAA imposes eligibility rules that foster competition among amateur athletic teams,
AND are NOT deemed financial aid rules,

THEN they are presumptively pro-competitive AND are NOT in violation of Sherman Antitrust Act Section 1.

UNLESS the sport is professional baseball, THEN it is exempt from the Sherman Antitrust Act
